

Il Palatino

è

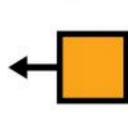

un

colle

di

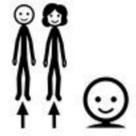

Roma

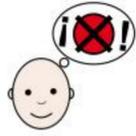

dove

si

trovano

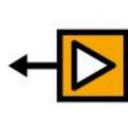

i

resti

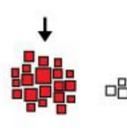

degli

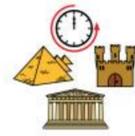

abitanti

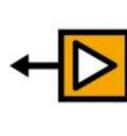

più

antichi

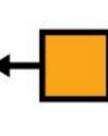

della

città

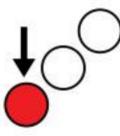

di

Roma.

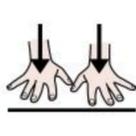

Questo

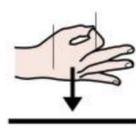

colle

stato

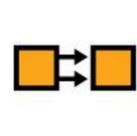

molto

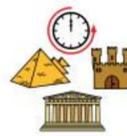

importante

per

l'antica

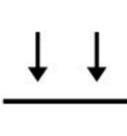

Roma

e

c'erano

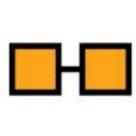

molte

ville

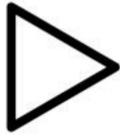

con

decorazioni.

Il

1°

1°

imperatore

romano,

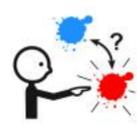

Augusto,

ha

scelto

il

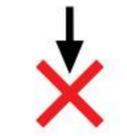

Colle

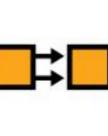

come

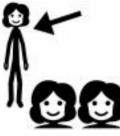

posto

la

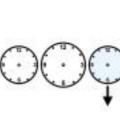

sua

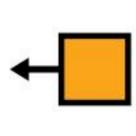

casa.

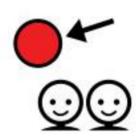

Dopo

lui,

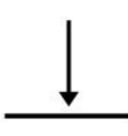

il

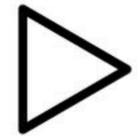

Colle

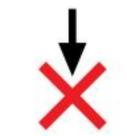

è

luogo

altri

palazzi

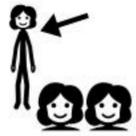

imperiali,

Domus Tiberiana,

Domus Transitoria,

Domus Aurea

la

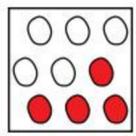

Domus Flavia.

Le

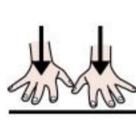

varie

case

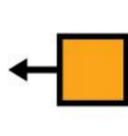

erano

collegate

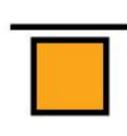

da

corridoi

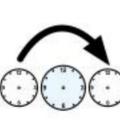

sotto

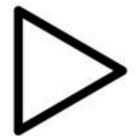

terra.

Durante

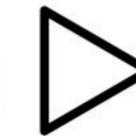

il

Rinascimento,

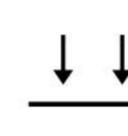

il

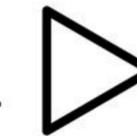

Palatino

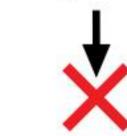

era

dove

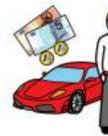

molte

famiglie

ricche

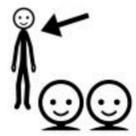

hanno

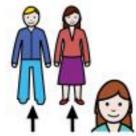

costruito

le

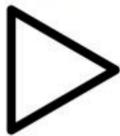

loro

case.

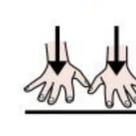

Il

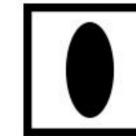

Rinascimento

periodo

storico.
